Educational and Scientific Webinar Series (1):
Recommendations to authors for writing interesting research articles

Invited Speaker:

Prof. dr. Adrian Covaci (University of Antwerp, Belgium)

Date & time:

Dec. 22 (Tue) 2020, 18:15 to 19:45 (LIVE)

Description: In this webinar, he will present his editor's opinion regarding the important topics and recommendations that authors should take into consideration when writing and submitting research articles in life and medical sciences. This webinar would be especially useful for students and young researchers to know what the requirements of the editor and the journal are in order to publish papers. It will also present a short description of the process of article submission.

Bio: Prof. Adrian Covaci is an editor in chief and associate editor of several high impact scientific journals;
